Westminster College

In the heart of the small town of New Wilmington in Western Pennsylvania lies Westminster College– a small campus in a rural location with plenty of Amish buggies. Westminster is a beautiful place. For four years, students call this home. However, it's more than that. It is an interconnected community of people trying to find themselves. The best part is, while doing this, they end up accidentally stumbling upon lifelong friendships, wisdom, guidance, and a steadiness they never quite possessed within their past selves. Being a Titan doesn't last just four years, it lasts a lifetime. Right now, you are here.

FRESH START

Shaw & Russell Halls

Students arrived for move-in day smiling with anticipation on a sunny Monday. Upperclassmen clad in red and white were ready to help move students into their residence halls and fill the weekend with fun activities. The Fresh Start Program started Friday, August 28th and went through Sunday, August 30th. Throughout the three days, the first years were introduced to the college lifestyle through meetings, interviews, and presentations.

Highlights of the weekend include a dinner with students and faculty within each major and a student picnic on the final day of orientation. Nighttime activities included a dance called the New Titan Rally where students could dance and eat snacks in Berlin Lounge, as well as Late Night, a humorous show put on by Fresh Start leaders. Overall, the three days filled with activities were meant to prepare the freshmen for the college lifestyle.

On reviewing her experience, first year Kelsey Smith says, "The best part of fresh start was meeting my fresh start leaders because they were really sweet and encouraging people."

Unfortunately, Homecoming this year was not all bright sun rays and blue skies as hoped, but there is no stopping Westminster Alumni from coming back to visit Mother Fair. Splashing through the mud and muck, alumni continued to show up to visit old friends and cheer on the football team to victory! Although the rain kept coming down, it did not dampen the great time everyone had.

Due to the weather, our traditional Homecoming parade was canceled. The weather did not stop the sororities from still competing for the winning float title. Each sorority finished the decorations and sent pictures of their creations to the 50th reunion class to be judged! The overall theme for the parade was popular cities and each sorority picked the city as follows: Alpha Gamma Delta: Las Vegas, Kappa Delta: Athens, Phi Mu: Pittsburgh, Sigma Kappa: Seattle, and Zeta Tau Alpha: Bel Aire. The Zeta float came out on top as the winner with their city skyline decorations.

Student Alumni Association President Renee Cantrell says, "Homecoming is a day when the gap between Westminster alumni and Westminster students is bridged. I truly believe that once a Titan, always a Titan, and homecoming is the event that demonstrates how strong our Westminster community really is."

LET'S CELEBRATE The 2015 Homecoming court stops to celebrate the moment together.

HOMECOMING GAME

Burry Stadium

The Titan football team faced Carnegie Mellon for the annual homecoming game. The Titans made all the students and alumni proud by beating the Tartans 26-16. At halftime, the crowd anxiously awaited to hear who would be crowned homecoming king and queen. David Jamieson representing Sigma Phi Epsilon and Channing Pifer representing Zeta Tau Alpha took home the titles.

David Jamieson reflects on the event: "Homecoming is a time for alumni to not only come home for a couple of days, but it is a time for those alum to reminisce on all of the experiences that they had while they attended Westminster College."

"I was very proud of the executive committee, student body, staff, and all who participated. The Mock Convention is a time honored tradition here at Westminster, and this year just added to the history. I was truly honored to serve as the Executive Director, and I can only hope that the legacy of the 2015 Convention lives in the memories of all those who were a part of the great event. "

MOCK CONVENTION

North of The Wall

Thursday, November 12th, hundreds of Westminster students gathered in the field house gym, or "convention hall," for the 20th mock convention. The convention happens once every four years - since 1936 - and is both the longest-standing Westminster tradition and one of the oldest events of its kind in the country.

Happening every election year, the convention is held for the political party out of power, in this case the Republican Party. The campus was pleased to welcome Karl Rove, an iconic political strategist and one of the most sought-after political pundits, who kicked off the convention with a humorous keynote address, cracking jokes about Barack Obama and the democratic party. Everything was meant in good fun; however, according to Dr. Rhoads, who organized the event: "No matter what political affiliation people identify with, we will all 'play' Republican during the 2015 Mock Convention."

Donald Trump, Jeb Bush, Ben Carson, and Rand Paul battled out their policy differences in Berlin lounge during the week, with their representatives on stage and campaign booths in the crowds. The convention culminated with speeches from each representative, delivered to hundreds of students who all showed up to represent their regions on the final night. Ben Carson won the convention by a narrow margin, becoming the 2016 winner of the convention.

CHRISTMAS VESPERS

Orr Auditorium

On Sunday, December 8, Westminster College hosted the annual Christmas Vespers Service for students, their families, alumni, faculty and community members. The worship theme "A Deo Daus (Given by God)," was observed throughout the service. Christmas music was performed by the Westminster Combined Choirs, Wind Ensemble, New Wilmington Presbyterian Church Hand Bell Choir and Gospel Choir. Senior students led the service with scripture readings, calls of worship, and prayers. After the Advent candles were lit, Reverend Mohr delivered an inspiring message based on the worship theme.

During the service, a voluntary offering supported the campus ministry and Habitat for Humanity spring break work trip to South Carolina. Also, angel tree gifts were purchased by campus community members to support children in Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Walker House, and Pennsylvania Homeless Children's Initiative.

OH COME LET US ADORE HIM Students in the wind ensemble play their trumpets.

BREAK A LEG Westminster students make their theater debut on opening night.

Beeghly Theater

The fall theater had two major productions. They performed the play Clybourne Park, which spans two generations fifty years apart. In 1959, Russ and Bev are selling their desirable two-bedroom at a bargain price, unknowingly bringing the first black family into the neighborhood (borrowing a plot line from Lorraine Hansberry's A Raisin in the Sun) and creating ripples of discontent among the cozy white residents of Clybourne Park. In 2009, the same property is being bought by a young white couple, whose plan to raze the house and start again is met with equal disapproval by the black residents of the soon-to-be-gentrified area. Bruce Norris' play is meant to span the fault line between race and property. The play was performed on November 19th, the 21st and the final performance was on the 22nd.

The second production the fall theater held was the 10-Minute New (And Nearly New) Play Festival. It ran from Thursday, October 8th through Saturday, October 10th and the final performances were on Sunday, October 11th.
Both shows were attended by many students, faculty, and people from the community, making both big successes.

NYC TRIP

New York City

After their Friday classes, students boarded a bus headed for the city lights. In a weekend packed full of skyscrapers, naked cowboys, and deciphering subway maps and Metro cards, 52 titans made their way around the city that never sleeps. Accommodated at the Hotel Edison, only a stone's throw from Times Square, the weekend warriors were right in the center of New York's hustle and bustle. Some spent a day in central park, some made their way to Chinatown, and others caught Broadway shows in their natural habitat. The trip was a success this year, according to SGA special events chair Blake Tyger, who organized the trip. "This year I saw a lot of people going to Broadway shows and little hole-in-the-wall places to eat," he said of the students on the trip, who branched away from the usual tourist attractions. "Usually people go to typical NYC places, but this year I realized that more people experienced the deeper experience of the city. Our hotel this year was absolutely wonderful!"

SPRING BREAK

WITH A PURPOSE

Georgetown, South Carolina

On March 5, twenty-six students traveled to Georgetown, SC for the Habitat for Humanity spring break with a purpose trip. The students built sheds for the habitat homes in the Georgetown area. The students also enjoyed some relaxation on the beaches, traveled to Charleston, SC for a day of shopping and exploration, went on a ghost tour in Georgetown, and visited DeBordieu Beach. The students on the trip shared laughs, devotionals, and connected in way beyond words. Senior Jessica Schweitzer reflects on her trip, "The Habitat trip brings people from around campus together as one and forms friendships and relationships that you will take with you outside of the trip."

DANCE THEATRE

Orr Auditorium

After twenty-six years of great performances, Dance Theater has continued to impress Westminster throughout the years. This years theme was "Get Up and Dance," and this is what the audience wanted to do when they saw the show. The company performed a total of eighteen dances that kept you wanting more. They covered all areas of dance including Salsa, Ballet, Hip-Hop, Tap, Jazz, Lyrical, and much more. With a total of fifty dancers, and a little over a semester and a half to put everything together, co-presidents Lauren Gezo and Chloe Knappenberger did a wonderful job putting on a great show with the help of their executive board.

Eichenaur Field

After a close bout with rain, the annual Volleyrock tournament was held outside, sun shining in the sky and the smell of pierogies and Chick-Fil-A hanging in the air. The largest outdoor volleyball competition in all of New Wilmington, Westminster's annual celebration saw its usual mix of nimble-footed athletes and happy selfie-takers fill up Eichenauer field. This year introduced double elimination, meaning that a team suffering its first heartbreak had room for redemption in the loser's bracket. Volleyrock-goers also spent their day jamming out to the on-site DJ, ripping tickets to win raffles, and donning hats and props to take pictures in the photo booth. Abusement Park, the winning team, worked their way over the fallen teams to claim the tournament victory and a year's worth of bragging rights. Mark Zalakar, one of the team's leading players, attributes their victory to their history as a team, saying "The win was a group effort. Last year our team won, but this year was a more decisive victory. Our team has good chemistry because we play together in the volleyball club."

MAY 4TH SHOOTINGS Westminster students reenact the tragic Kent State Shootings that occurred on their campus on May 4th, 1970.

Beeghly Theater

This spring Theatre Westminster performed the show "May 4th Voices: Kent State 1970". The play was based on the Kent State Shootings that occurred on May 4th, 1970. The play was written by David Hassler and directed by Scott Mackenzie. The show was based on the Kent State Shootings Oral History Project.

The performances were April 28th, 29th, 30th, and May 1st. This show was a big hit on campus as many students remembered learning about the Kent State shootings in their history classes. The show was highly attended by students, faculty members, and community members. Big congratulations to all the students who worked countless hours to make this show such a success!

SERVICE AT WESTMINSTER

One of the many unique and amazing things about Westminster's community is its sense of philanthropy and service. A number of organizations on campus are dedicated to service, including Habitat for Humanity, SGA, all Greek organizations, and various honors societies. Students attend spring break trips, support campus events, and donate items and time. Westminster students participated in the Close the Loop Cup competition this fall, where the student body brought in thousands of clothing items to donate to those in need. Elizabeth Buechele, SGA's Service Chair in the fall, headed the event. About her time as Service Chair, Liz says, "Service is all about finding ways to do good in the world. I feel incredibly lucky to have been able to run large events as the SGA Service Chair, but I think there is another equally important type of service that comes in the everyday kindness we show to the people around us. To be a Westminster cliche, something as silly as holding a door open can really make a difference."

SLED RIDIN' Hannah Youngworth and Troy Abbott take a ride down the snowy hill.

This year's seniors experienced a phenomenon unknown to Westminster for many years: a snow day. With the tremendous amounts of snow that Western Pennsylvania experiences each year, these days of fun and relaxation are rare. However, this winter dumped quite the snowstorm on Westminster, so the entire campus was shut down for the day. Students spent the day building snowmen, sledding down the hill by the lake, and taking a break from schoolwork. This day of fun allowed the seniors to bond with their classmates and enjoy a rare Westminster experience.

#TH6

The residents of townhouse 6 had quite an interesting senior year. Paul Carswell, Ryan Dunn, Michael Mikita, and Anthony Yasko were the residents of the famous townhouse 6. Townhouse 6 was the place to be at Westminster, especially on Saturday nights, which gave townhouse 6 quite the reputation. One Saturday night, however, it seems the gathering was just a little bit too wild. The men of townhouse 6 faced eviction from their townhouse with just a few short months left in the semester. They responded with a petition to save their little group. The student body took this petition and ran with it. The hashtag #FreeTH6 was streaming every form of social media. However, they pleaded their case to student affairs, only faced a small fine and remained in their townhouse until the end of the year. The legacy of townhouse 6 will be remembered by everyone, but especially the Class of 2016.

SENIORS ABROAD

"Studying abroad in Puerto Rico was an amazing experience for me because it gave me both an opportunity to learn a lot more about the Spanish language and also meet a lot of really cool people on a tropical island! It was definitely a nice change from the Westminster winter!" -Cameron Bailey

"I went with the Westminster in London program. One of my favorite things about London was that every time I got off the tube, it felt like I was in a different country. I could get off at Camden Market where buildings are a bit run down, but the people are very artistic; or I could get off at Embankment where the first thing to see is Big Ben and the Houses of Parliament. Because of studying abroad I am much more independent and adventurous. I did things like jumping off a cliff in Wales, hiking in Ireland, and zip lining in London, all of which I never even dreamed of doing! It's mind boggling to think of all of the places and things I got to see in three short months. Studying abroad showed me that I might be in different places, but ultimately people are the same, and we all have a desire to see just how small the world really is." -Krystina Rothhaar

"Studying abroad was the best experience. I had the chance to take during my time at Westminster. To be able to go my senior year made it that much more exciting! Spending a semester in London, England gave me a chance to make a place so unknown considered a home and now it holds a special place in my heart. If I could be roaming the Irish countrysides or exploring the canals of Amsterdam and Venice, I would be on the next plane for another adventure!" -Darian Baker

"Studying abroad for the first half of my senior year honestly changed my life. I love London, and I would do anything to go back because it has truly become my second home. Studying abroad forced me out of my comfort zone and made me a more adventurous person. One of my favorite things was traveling to different countries and really broadening my view and understanding of other cultures because it's so easy to forget that there is a whole wide world out there to explore." -Emily Williams

Not every senior spent their last fall semester on Westminster's campus; a handful of seniors spent this exciting time exploring a new place and getting a small taste of freedom. They returned with a newly found sense of the world and a multitude of new stories. Here are their thoughts on studying abroad during their senior year!

OLIVIA MARTIN CLASS OF 2016 SENIOR SPEAKER

Faculty, board members, administrators, professors, friends and family, good afternoon and thank you for being here today. We appreciate your influence and your presence as we celebrate our graduation from Westminster College, a tiny school in a small town that still believes in the power of the liberal arts tradition.

Fellow graduates of 2016, congratulations: We have finally earned the right to cross Senior Terrace. Despite the Tub tasters we ingested, the nights of sleep we skipped and the days we thought we wouldn't get through, we made it. As I stand here with Old Main behind me and adult life before me, I can honestly say: I am so glad I'm at Westminster, there's no place I'd rather be. As we approach the close of our time here, I offer you three lessons Mother Fair has taught me.

One. We've all been there. It's 3 a.m. and you just can't seem to fall asleep, reliving the questions you missed on your physics test, worrying about the capstone meeting you forgot, wondering if you should drop the religion class you're already failing. You have a pit in your stomach, and getting out of bed in a couple hours seems impossible. The minutes tick by slowly as you wonder if you're even cut out for college.

Half of the battle was simply showing up the next day, but the fact is, you did. You didn't give up, and that's something to remember in the days to come: Just as Old Main tolls every quarter of an hour, we will all surely fail. And, we did sometimes. But we came to class the next day—at least most of the time—ready to try again. We showed up for the next semester, determined to do better. We came back for an extra semester or year, confident in our ability to improve. That we are here today is a testament to the fact that we didn't let failure define our experience. Instead, we chose to keep showing up.

The future will not always be bright. In fact, there will be hard days, hard weeks, even hard years. But Titans don't give up.

Two. I was dreadfully, painfully shy as a young kid. I struggled to say anything in public, and when I was forced to talk, my voice was so soft no one could hear me. My parents would coach me in confidence, repeating the same phrase over and over again. To this day, that mantra is burned into my brain: Speak up or don't bother speaking.

Westminster is a family of people who speak up. Since our founding in 1852, we've had important things to say. One of the first colleges in the nation to offer educations to people of color, we were also the first in the state of Pennsylvania to grant a bachelor's degree to a woman.

We are a college of clear voices: When we feel something strongly, we speak up. We have petitioned for equal rights for the LGBTQ community, collected thousands of items of clothing for those in need, and worked diligently to raise diversity awareness. One time, we also fought pretty hard to get two-ply toilet paper—what a legacy. When it's time to speak up, we do, and that's important.

Three. The late Fred Rogers said this: "There are three ways to ultimate success: The first way is to be kind. The second way is to be kind. The third way is to be kind." This sentiment is part of our DNA: It runs through the blood of every Titan. We call it the Westminster Way. We all heard about it when we toured campus for the first time, the admissions office loves talking about it, and we've all hashtagged it at some point. In fact, a quick Twitter search reveals this quote from a current junior: "I'm so excited to go back to school because I know no door will be shut in my face. #WestminsterWay."

In my time here, I have known such kindness. There were anonymous notes in my mailbox, uplifting text messages from people I didn't know that well, and, of course, hundreds of doors held open for me. So today, I say thank you. And I ask you to carry that spirit of kindness with you as you leave New Wilmington. Continue searching for and displaying those characteristics which have distinguished human beings at their best. Keep offering help and kindness, even when you will get nothing in return. Maintain your identity as a child of Mother Fair.

Class of 2016, congratulations, and good luck in the future. No matter where you go or what you do, remember what Westminster has taught us: Show up, speak up and be kind. Thank you.

COMMENCEMENT 2016

Buzz Ridl Gymnasium

On May 14th, 2016 at approximately 1 P.M. the class of 2016 anxiously filled into the Buzz Ridl gymnasium with caps and gowns on, ready to receive their degree. Well, their degree holder. The gymnasium was packed full with friends and family awaiting to see their graduate. The faculty speaker was Dr. Tim Cuff, who spoke to the 350 graduates about what is next for them. He also advised the students to look in the mirror each day and say "I am a Titan and I will change the world." He then instructed the students and audience to join hands and say his words of wisdom aloud together. The class of 2016 is full of future doctors, lawyers, musicians, teachers, and scientists. But most importantly, the class of 2016 was full of people who will change the world. Congratulations Class of 2016. We are Titans. And we WILL change the world.

AND SO IT BEGINS The candidates for Bachelor of Arts degrees line up to receive their degrees.

ALL SMILES Kelsey Rogers has a big smile on graduation day.

PRESIDENT RICHARD DORMAN

The class of 2016 were not be the only ones "graduating" from Westminster in 2016; this year also marked the end of President Richard Dorman's time as President of the college. President Dorman has been at Westminster since 2009, and students are likely to see him at the annual President's picnic for first-years, telling stories at the lighting of the Christmas tree, having dinner with students, and even going on a Habitat for Humanity Spring Break with a Purpose trip. Here's a short reflection by President Dorman on his time here at Westminster:

What is your favorite place on Westminster's campus?

My favorite place is probably Wallace Chapel, because it's a beautiful space and it's also a place for private repose and reflection; there's a calmness that comes about me when I'm in that space. . . you can feel it when you go in there.

What is the biggest thing you'll remember about Westminster when you leave?

The students. We have fabulous students at Westminster: bright, energetic, committed, dedicated, friendly. I'll also remember the motto and the thing we tend to do at this school, and that's to always open doors for other people. There's just something special about this place.

Do you have anything else to add about your time here?

It was a great learning experience, and I have great hopes for the college's future. I felt privileged being a part of its history.

Thank you, President Dorman, for your eight years of service to Westminster College. You will be remembered and missed!

"There's just something special about this place"

"This was taken in the gardens of Blenheim Palace, a place outside of London that we traveled to as a group. It was beautiful! Going abroad was one of the most amazing opportunities I have ever had. The places I traveled to were amazing and awe-inspiring, but the most rewarding part was the personal growth that comes with exposure to new things. Leaving the everyday college bubble was an invaluable experience and I'm incredibly grateful that I was able to see a little bit more of the world. "

-Rachael Murphy

"Traveling abroad was one of the most life changing experiences in my life thus far. It changed me for the better and for the worse (because I ALWAYS want to go back). Living in London for three and a half months was definitely different than living in New Wilmington, but it was one of the greatest, eye-opening times of my life. I traveled to Paris, Amsterdam, Scotland, and my favorite- Ireland. It's just as green and gorgeous as it is in the movies, and I'd live there in a heartbeat."

-Carly Christofferson

"This is me sitting on the ancient remnants of Pompeii in Italy. Studying abroad changed me in every way, and I came back a different person. It was nothing I expected, and everything I could have ever wanted."

-Mariah Roberts

"This is a photo of myself at Sterling Castle overlooking the place where the Battle of Sterling Bridge took place. Studying abroad tests your willingness to culturally assimilate yourself, and once you allow it, your experiences will be endless. And it is these experiences that have taught me to take more opportunities in life and not just be content with what I already have seen."

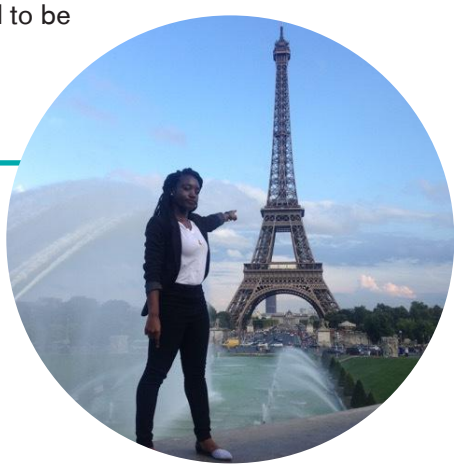
-Matthew Slagle

"While I was studying abroad in London, I had many opportunities to go out and explore Europe with old and new friends. One of my favorite places I saw was Castle Neuschwanstein in Germany, where I got to see an old friend and make new memories. Overall, I loved my study abroad experience and would love to go back to see more of Europe!"

-Alena Steele

DY ABROAD

In the fall, a number of Westminster students hopped across the pond to spend a semester abroad. They spent time learning and exploring in brand new places outside of the Westminster bubble, traveling all over different parts of the world. They returned to campus in the spring excited to be home with new places close to their hearts.



"In the fall of 2015, I studied abroad through CEA in Paris and I had such a great time. My experience was amazing and I am so sad that I only had one semester in this amazing place. Studying abroad in Paris gave me the opportunity to explore this beautiful city, and allowed me to see more than just the touristic attractions. I was fortunate enough to have been able to witness Paris during one of its most popular moments of the year, Paris Fashion Week and also participate in it. I would recommend studying abroad to anyone who is thinking about it because it allows you to become independent and venture outside of your comfort zone. I am so glad I did this and hopefully you all will take the opportunity to study abroad too!"

-Macaya Yao

On seeing the London Eye lit up in support for Paris after the attacks this November, Matthew Slagle says, "It really showed the sincere condolences and support from this tragic event. But from this appalling incident sparked the immediate sign of unity and strength from all of France's allies. England was not the only one thinking of Paris that night, the world recognized the care France needed, and seeing it first hand was astonishing."

"I honestly feel that after three months of exploring San Jose, Costa Rica, it is my second home. The exciting culture and friendly people made it one of the most exciting times of my life. Whether I was traveling to some of the world's most gorgeous beaches or learning Spanish in the classroom, I got to bring great memories home that I will never forget."

-Gabrielle Butcher

STUDENT

Zachary Shively shares some words about his reign as editor-in-chief of Scrawl: "My experience working as the editor-in-chief of Scrawl was amazing. I loved seeing all the artistic things that Westminster has to offer from student, staff, and alumni. I am also grateful that Scrawl gave me a way to artistically give back to the college."

URAC 2016 in Review

Jen Piascik
Staff Writer

This past Wednesday, the eleventh annual Undergraduate Research and Arts Celebration, or URAC, was held here at Westminster College. What started out in 2005 as a very small event with around 30 presenters, according to URAC facilitator Dr. Patrick Krantz, has truly blossomed into a campus-wide event. This year, there was over 300 participants in URAC, spanning from first years to faculty, and included every possible academic discipline.

Many students, faculty and even Board of Trustees members look forward to this event every year, because it truly shows what a remarkable campus we are and how extraordinary out students are.

"What I love mot about URAC us that it brings everyone's passions into one event, and can celebrate each other's success. I also think you can learn a lot about someone when they put a majority of their time and energy into one particular project," said Lindsay Schich, a senior communications major.

Throughout their four years at Westminster, it is almost guaranteed that every student will present some sort of research at URAC. Most students will present their senior capstone as either a poster or a short lecture. This often sets Westminster students ahead because they already have experience with research and presentation.

"URAC is a great opportunity to showcase the many talents and projects that the students at Westminster have been working incredibly hard on. It's also an awesome platform to practice public speaking while being exposed to various topics," said Alyssa Malachin, a senior biology major. Many students, especially first years, are required to go to some presentations throughout the day, but most students here at Westminster go anyways to support their friends, classmates and just to learn. One aspect of URAC that is interesting is interdisciplinary research.

"My partner Ashlyn Brown and I were so lucky to be able to combine our education and neuroscience backgrounds to research a topic that hasn't really been looked at before. It was such a rewarding experience to have as only an undergraduate student," said Melissa Egan, a junior early childhood and special education major.

The honors program is also well represented in URAC, especially because the seniors had just completely their honors defense.

"Being a member of the Honors program enabled me to present and participate in this wonderful celebration of undergraduate research. I would never have known about this program in Peru, let alone conducted two research projects in a foreign country," said Ashlyn Brown, a junior neuroscience major.

In the morning this year, there were three poster sessions, each with over twenty poster presenters in each session. This makes it very easy for people to see a large amount of reacearch that is all vastly different. In the afternoon, students gave 15 minute overviews of their research with the assistance of Power Points and other visual aids. Both give people great opportunirtues to see reseach that they would not normally and expand their horizons. It also opens up the researchers for questions and dialogue from students and factualy that they may not normally encounter.

"I was able to get a lot of feedback on my project in order to further my research and to make me a better scientist and student," said Christina Robb, a sophomore chemistry major.

URAC can seem overwhelming to students at first, but the feedback from the majority of students is that they thoroughly enjoy the experience and the knowledge that they gain from it.

"I'm glad I got to present my poster at URAC because I gained positive feedback about my research. It was a great opportunity because I got to present on a topic that I'm very passionate about," said Jess Schweitzer, a senior public relations major.

Rachel Shussett reflects on her time as editor-in-chief, "In all of my four years here at Westminster, it has been a dream to be the editor-in-chief of The Holcad. Now that I finally have had the experience, it has helped to shape me to who I am. It has taught me leadership, helped me see many perspectives around campus, and shown me exactly what I am capable of. Although there have been hard and frustrating days, I wouldn't trade it for anything."

Whether it's a live feed of a swim meet, play-by-plays of a football or basketball games, or even just some throwback music to get you through hump day, Titan Radio and Westminster Cable Network have your back. Called one of the best college radio stations by Princeton Review, Titan Radio operates completely without advertisements. The station, along with WCN, earned Westminster recognition as one of the top four colleges in the nation for having the "Best Social Media Presence," according to College Broadcaster, Inc. (CBI). The online broadcasting program also maintains an active presence, maintaining websites and mobile options for WCN and Titan Radio. Everyone involved puts their heart and soul into making Westminster's cable and radio the best they can be.

PLAY BY PLAY Blake Dulick and Paden Jones gear up for a live broadcast of Titan Radio.

CAPSTONE

Capstone seems to be a word that is both dreaded and respected in any junior's or senior's vocabulary at Westminster College. Many majors require a capstone completion in order to graduate. Students spend countless hours researching in the biology or chemistry lab, finding the perfect source in the library to use in their papers, playing with rats in the neuroscience labs, determining the correct marketing strategy that a business should choose, and many more. Capstone provides students with a huge learning experience and is part of what sets Westminster students apart from other graduating students. Many students were also able to travel and present their research at prestigious conferences. Although capstone can be stressful, it is safe to say every Westminster student gains so much in the experience and can take great pride in being able to say that they completed their capstone.

On April 20th, Westminster students took a break from the classroom and had the opportunity to present their research and listen to their peers as they celebrated the annual Undergrade Research and Arts Celebration (URAC). This year URAC had over 300 students participating in the presentation of their research or creative project.

The Undergraduate Research and Arts Celebration is a day-long event showcasing the collaborative work between Westminster faculty and students. Often interdisciplinary in nature, presentations took the form of posters, oral presentations, video productions, art studio pieces, poetry readings, live musical performances, and more. This celebration is a dynamic and exciting opportunity for everyone to experience Westminster's rich academic environment.

The Titan's softball team had an incredible 2016 season. The girls went 24-16 overall and 16-2 in the PAC . They finished the season a school record of 19 straight wins which lead them to the number one seed and hosting the PAC championship. Their season came to and end in the semi final game of the PAC championship. Although their season ended a game shorter than they would have liked the team holds their heads up high as they truly had an amazing season.

Senior Alexis Sheffer shares her softball experience at Westminster, "Reflecting on my last 4 years at Westminster with the softball team, I realized I have perfected forever friendships, I have made memories that pictures cannot explain and most importantly I have learned from my teammates and coaches along the way. Under the instruction of coach Kevin Siroki, the Men's Basketball team was able to turn their season around, ending with a record of 10-17. Over Christmas break, the team traveled to New York City to play in the 14th annual Tournament of Heroes, where they battled hard in both games, unfortunately coming up short. Throughout the season, there were some highs and lows including a rough start, but the boys were able to pull it together and finished the regular season with a four game winning streak. This winning streak allowed them the chance to make it to PAC's where they defeated Washington and Jefferson 76-63 in the "play-in" game. They went on to beat Grove City in the quarterfinals 59-57. Their season ended with a five point loss to Saint Vincent in the semifinals. Altogether they had a successful season and hope to do the same next season. "This basketball season had many ups and downs. I am really happy that we finished the season on a high note. Winning five of the lasts six games was the perfect confidence boost this team needed to help gain momentum into the next season. I wish all my teammates and coaches the best of luck for next year. MEN'S & WOMEN

Beginning their season with the Allegheny Classic, the women's Basketball team played hard, only losing two games by a few points. Their season was filled with dedication that was backed up with enthusiasm by their coach, Rosanne Scott. Ending the season with a record of 4-21, the girls still had smiles on their faces because they were happy to be playing the sport they loved. Focusing on the positives, the girls were able to win all four games at home. Although this season was not their best, they look forward to improving in the off-season for the following season. "It was a very long season considering we lost a few people throughout, but that only brought us closer as a team and allowed us to finish on a high note. We fought through all the adversity and it will be very beneficial for next years group. A very memorable year!" - Andrea Marsh

Under the energetic direction of coach Tim McNeil, the men's cross country team had a season of focused training and growth. After five season meets, the runners competed at St. Vincent college for the conference championship. The team finished last of ten schools with 246 points, but saw some very competitive times from many runners. Sophomore David Waldschmidt was the top finisher for the Titans, with a time of 29:58, and earned himself 41st place overall. The team is determined to build on this season for the future. "The season did not end the way that we had hoped. However, the team has more heart than any group of people I have ever been around. Everyone was very encouraging and we're always there for each other throughout the season. Our team is continuing to improve and will not give up no matter what obstacles stand in our way." -Joshua McFall

The women's cross country team had a fast-paced season. With the annual Fisher Invitational canceled, the team ran five races this season. Finishing up with the PAC championship, held at hilly Saint Vincent College, the women's team finished sixth out of ten teams with 154 points. Standout runners included sophomores Paige Baierl and Katelynn Morrell. Baierl finished second out of the Westminster ladies, earning a time of 25:24 and recognition as an All-PAC honorable mention. First place finisher Katelynn Morell finished just ahead with a time of 25:10, a first-place finish for the women's team, and earned All-PAC second team honors. "This season was definitely a great success for everyone. I have never ran with a group of people who put so much heart into racing, and everyone's determination was able to strengthen the team as a whole. " -Katelynn Morrell

CROSS COUNTRY

The Race Course

During the 2015-16 season, the Titan cheerleaders were excited to support all athletic teams on campus! “We are extremely proud of our football and men’s basketball teams as they made it to the playoffs this year” said Jess Galanski, captain. Being able to support the Titan Football team as they won the PAC Playoffs was a great way to transition to a successful basketball season. The Titan Cheerleaders showed their WC spirit throughout the community by offering two cheer clinics for community members and local school cheerleaders. These clinics were offered to students from grades K-6th, giving young girls an opportunity to spend the day with the WC cheerleaders learning cheers, a dance and play games. The cheerleaders had a lot to be proud of this year and are very excited for next season.

The 2015 Westminster Titan Football Team finished with an overall record of 9-2. They finished 7-1 within the Presidents' Athletic Conference. The Titans were given the opportunity to play in an Eastern College Athletic Conference Division III bowl game. They won the James Lynah Bowl Championship with a victory over St. John Fisher. The victory was the Titans first playoff victory since 1997. Led by a brand new coaching staff, the Titans finished the season with a winning record for the first time in nineteen years. The Titan players and coaches were all very proud of this achievement and how they finished the season. Hopefully with the continuance of hard work and dedication, this new sense of football pride will continue into future seasons. “I like the players on the team. I feel like we all really bonded as a family.” -Freshman Robert Morris

FOOTBALL & CHEER

In the 2015-2016 season, the Men's Golf team had a good year with plenty of great performances. During the year freshman, Connor White, finished second at the Westminster Invitational and sophomore, Nicholas Torrence placed in the top five at the La Roche College Invitational. The team placed 6th in PACs with a noteable debut performance from Freshman, Connor White, who finished fourth overall. With the introduction of a brand new state of the art golf center, Coach Matthew Torrence, hopes it will take the teams abilities to new levels and bring in young, new talent.

Under the instruction of Coach Roud, the women were able to have a good season. Due to a smaller team this year, they did not have as successful of a season as they wanted, but still finished sixth in PAC's. Individually they were able achieve a lot. Sophomore, Kelsey Phillips, had a strong season earning All-PAC second team honors and finishing with a four-round score of 375. Sophomore, Ava Hoag finished 12th overall in PAC's and senior, Carly Boughner, finished 16th overall. The team was able to bond over their spring break trip to Las Vegas, where they had a great time participating in a tournament.

The men's soccer team had a very successful run this season with a record of 12-5-3. They beat many teams that were supposed to be better than them. They fought a good battle the entire season and came out on top. During PAC's they were able to make it all the way to the finals where they defeated Geneva in a shoot-out after 30 minutes of overtime play. Richard Beaudoin scored a penalty kick to win it all. With this win they secured their spot in the NCAA Championship Tournament where they made it to the finals, but unfortunately lost to Kenyon in the last few minutes. Overall, they had an amazing run this season and hope to keep it up next year. "Not only did this season culminate in a conference championship and national tournament berth, it set the standard for the program for years to come. Through much adversity, this incredible group of guys was able to achieve something special. It was an unforgettable experience that I will always cherish." -Senior Ethan McCarthy

MEN'S & WOMEN'S

The women's soccer team fought hard all season long, ending with a record of 13-4-2. They defeated some of the best teams in their conference to be one of the top teams in their section. They made it all the way to the semi-final round in PAC's, unfortunately losing to Thomas More and ending their journey. While they were sad, they could not complain with such a great record and a trip to Hawaii for preseason where they tanned in the sun while playing the game they love! "It was a great season with a lot of success. I was proud to see all that we were able to accomplish as a team and as individuals. The team truly became an ohana and together we had a season of memories." -Senior Kelsey Rodgers

Westminster's "swimmin' women" swam a very competitive season with a lot of close meets, but still made it out of the pool with a winning year. Sporting six wins and five losses, the ladies worked hard against opponents in and out of the PAC. At the Westminster Invitational in October, the girls came in second out of a total six teams with an impressive 109 points. Certainly one of the most hard-working groups on campus, it seems their season never really ends. Beginning with preseason workouts as early as September and extending into the spring when the girls teach swim lessons to community children, their hard work continues to pay dividends on the record board and throughout the community. The Titan women tied with Saint Vincent College for second at conference championships, with their rival Grove City College taking first.

The men's swim team showed what Titans were made of this year, recording an impressive nine wins and only two losses, including an undefeated conference record of four to zero. Coming in first of five teams both at the Westminster Relays at the start of the season and at the PAC championship at the end of the season, the year was filled with successes from start to finish. This was an especially important season for the team, as it was Coach Rob Klamut's last year as head coach. "Klamut's Krew" worked tirelessly in the pool, weight room, and through breaks to give their coach a run to remember. Coach Klamut's position will be filled by Pat Smith, a Westminster swimming alumnus who has served as an assistant coach for the team for years.

The men's tennis team played their hearts out this season, bonding as a group along the way. From the practice courts to their matches there was never a dull moment for the mens' players, some of whom had never played before college. The team worked hard the whole semester, but finished with a 3-7 record overall, 3-5 in the conference. With victories over Thiel, Thomas More, and Geneva, the season still saw some high points. Captain Ethan McCarthy had compliments and high hopes for the team, saying "We had a great group of guys this year who are becoming increasingly passionate about tennis. They improved so much over the course of this season and I know the program has a bright future."

The women's tennis team went undefeated for all conference matches, their second shutout season in a row. Out of all eight team matches, five were shutouts and only nine individual matches were lost, leaving an impressive point record of 63-9. The season culminated with PAC championships and a tie for the title with school rival Grove City College. "I feel like this season went really well. We had a new coach for a second year in a row, but were able to adapt and finish really well in our matches and at the top of the conference overall." -Stephanie Homitz

Including a team training trip to Coastal Carolina for spring break and a week of training over winter break before classes began, the men's track team has never stopped training and conditioning for their events. The men finished in first place at the conference championship meet and took home the title as the 2016 PAC CHAMPS! The men truly made a name for themselves in and out of the conference throughout this year.

Senior sprinter Jacob Dindak said the season has been one to remember, following a long career with Westminster track and field "In my opinion, we have the best group of seniors in my four years here at Westminster as well as an electric group of young guys and girls with some serious potential. All the awards and broken school records this year really speak volumes about our track program and Coach McNeil as a whole."

Run. Throw. Jump. Vault. The women's track and field team were in perpetual motion from October to May. The indoor season culminated in an all-conference victory for the women, leading nine teams in the PAC championship meet at Youngstown State University. The outdoor season the women finished second in the PAC.

Of the women's successes, senior sprinter Alicia Nuzzo says "I think the season went very well for everybody and it was great to see all my teammates progress both on and off the track. Not only did we advance as a team but we advanced as individuals and helped each other reach our fullest potentials, especially with the help of Coach McNeil."

The Titan Volleyball team ended the 2015 season with an overall record of 13-24 and were 9-9 in the PAC conference. This season the Titan's faced many challenges and obstacles but still managed to overcome them. The ladies ended the season on a high note as they upset Grove City in the PAC play in game and landed a spot in the semi finals against number one seed Thomas More. The team fought hard to get the upset but ended up short as the season came to an end in Kentucky. However, this season the Titans grew as a team both on and off the court and through all the adversity they faced it truly was a successful season.

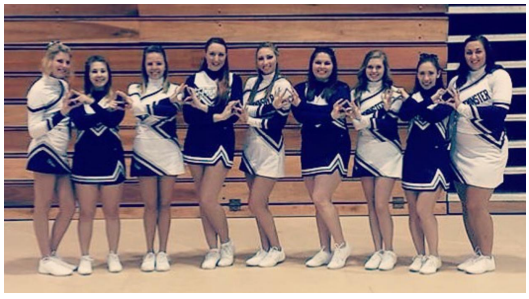
All of Westminster's sororities enjoy a program from a national Panhellenic representative.



The cheerleaders show their WC spirit and Panhel spirit!

One of the many things that makes Westminster's Greek life such a unique experience is its sense of community. When students go Greek, they don't just join one organization; they join a whole community that works together to make a difference both on campus and in the local community. Westminster's organizations are Panhellenically-friendly and friend groups include students from all of WC's fraternties/sororities. Sorority life in particular is often portrayed in the media as cliquey and full of drama; WC's chapters defy this stereotype and give a new meaning to the words "no matter the letters."

BID DAY & GUYS' PICKUP

Orr Auditorium & Eich Field

Greek pick up was an exciting event for everyone. As part of the Westminster tradition, the sororities and fraternities both had successful pick up events. The sororities began their pick up season on Wednesday, January 20. Recruitment was three days long and led up to the highly anticipated Bid Day. On January 24th, bid cards were handed out and then flipped in Orr auditorium where new members were welcomed into their sisterhoods. A few weeks later, the fraternities began their recruitment process by inviting independent males to smokers. On February 14th, in the Westminster fields, the fraternity men welcomed in all of the new members. The new Greek men and women had officially found their homes.

GREEK WEEK

The Rock

This year was another successful Greek Week for the books! Each day our greek life was faced with new challenges. For the sororities, the fight was neck and neck the entire time. By the end of the week, there was a one point difference between Alpha Gamma Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha, with the winning title coming down to the last event, the Service Drive. After doing some major shopping, Alpha Gamma Delta came out on top. For the fraternities, there was not much of a challenge with Sigma Phi Epsilon dominating the entire week, and no surprise winning the trophy. Everyone had a great week but what really mattered were the donations made to help those in need. Students stuffed over two buses full of supplies for veterans and their families who are struggling.

LET THE GAMES BEGIN
The Greek community gathers for backyard games during Greek Week while the refs look on.

YOU RAISE ME UP
A brother of Alpha Sigma Phi lifts up a sweetheart during their Sing N Swing performance.

IS THAT KAYNE?
Kendall Williams dresses as Kayne West and performs with the brothers of Phi Kappa Tau.

HEY YOU THERE
The sisters of Kappa Delta point to the crowd during their performance.

SUIT AND TIE Harry Greene, a brother of Theta Chi, looks sharp in their Suit and Tie themed Sing N Swing.

90'S BABY
The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon get grooving in their 90's dance performance, with David Jamieson and William Trott showing all smiles up front.

HERE'S TO IRELAND The sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha show of their Irish pride during their performance, hoisting Grace McKenna high!

FLIPPING OUT OF THIS WORLD The sisters of Phi Mu, middle, do flips during their performance.

SING & SWING

No one could stop the beat as our sororities and fraternities danced it out competing for the victory in Sing and Swing! This years theme was no theme at all, which allowed for everyone to get very creative. Each theme chosen was unique and goes as follows; Alpha Gamma Delta was "Alpha Grandmas", Phi Mu was "Out of this World", Kappa Delta was "Time Hop", Sigma Kappa was "The Evolution of Dance", Zeta Tau Alpha was "Westminster High", Sigma Phi Epsilon was "90's", Theta Chi was "Suit and Tie", Alpha Sigma Phi was "Theme Songs" and Phi Kappa Tau was "Kanye". Although everyone brought their "A" game, Alpha Gamma Delta and Sigma Phi Epsilon took home the trophies.

PHILANTHROPY

Philanthropy is an important focus for every Greek organization. Chapters host a multitude of different events and fundraisers each year to support their nationally chosen causes. Organizations support one another by attending other events, participating in fundraisers, and spreading positivity about other chapters' events on social media. Additionally, the Greek community comes together during Greek Week to raise money for causes outside of their own national philanthropies; the chapters bring in thousands of pennies to support Cystic Fibrosis, as well as donate countless personal care items to those in need. While these social Greek organizations are busy around campus, they always make the philanthropies that are close to their hearts a priority.

MAKE IT TO SECOND BASE Jessica Staudacher carries a raffle basket for the kickball event held by the sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha.

RUN TO PREVENT CHILD ABUSE Mara Winters and Kaitlin Alexi sell t-shirts at Kappa Delta's annual 5K Shamrock event.

GOLFING LIKE PROS The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon host their annual golf outing with their alumni.

RELAY FOR LIFE The brothers of Alpha Sigma Phi host their annual Relay for Life event on campus.

CHILLING OUT The brothers of Phi Kappa Tau hold their Couch-A-Thon to raise money for SeriousFun Children's Network Camps!

WOODSTOX Panayiotis Constantine, Angela Colella, and Andrew Henley show their support for Theta Chi and the Wounded Warrior Project, Theta Chi's philanthropy, at their annual Woodstox concert.

SMOOCH A POOCH Alpha Gamma Delta sisters Kayleigh Gill and Emily D'Amico smooch a pooch during AGD's Dogs for Diabetes event.

MISS TITAN Heaven Brown and Christian Na host Sigma Kappa's Miss. Titan 2016 while contestants strut their stuff.

While Westminster is a small campus and the "Westminster bubble" is a very real concept, we must never forget that our bubble of a community allows us to go places we had only dreamed of, whether it be a school conference across the country, a spring break planned with friends, or a job opportunity in the city we've always wanted to live in. Westminster is an important place because it is the beginning of the many places we'll go in our lifetimes, and we will never forget that we were here.

EIC OVERBOARD The stress of the yearbook process makes the editors consider a swim in Lake Brittain.

WORDS WORDS WORDS The Copy Staff takes a break from writing and editing to smile!

MEET THE ARGO STAFF

You would not be holding this book right now if it were not for the efforts of each person who worked on the Argo staff this year. The staff works to ensure that the organizations, sports teams, and events of a year at Westminster are preserved through this collection of photos and words. Putting together a yearbook that captures the story of an academic year is no small job, and this year's Copy Staff, Photo Staff, and Editorial Staff completed the Argo with a few headaches, a fair amount of stress, and a lot of laughs.

LONDON & FRANCE Teamwork is important and this Westminster sign is higher than one would imagine.

WE'RE ON A BOAT The editors decide against a canoeing adventure and opt for some photos instead.

LETTER

During a time where great change is transpiring at Westminster, I often have to stop and remember just how much I love New Wilmington, Ferguson Hall, and even my own little dorm room. All it takes is a glance across campus on a sunny day to rekindle my love for this place. I'd bet that every person on this campus has a certain location that means something to them, whether it's lazy days at Lake Brittain, chapel services in Wallace Chapel, or Shaw Hall where you spent your first college night. Maybe there's a townhouse on campus that holds your favorite WC memories within its walls, or maybe the smell of WOW on a Saturday night will never quite leave your mind. Regardless of where your "place" is, I hope this book evokes memories of that place. I hope it reminds you of the feeling of being sealed in the Westminster bubble, and how that bubble leads us to fantastic places.

The Argo is a year-long process that never stops. From August to June the staff fills the pages of the Argo with ideas, words, and photos. This book wouldn't exist without the hard work of the entire Argo staff. In the last year, we've all operated as a team. Thank you to Kate Ratvasky, our advisor, for keeping our little crew on track and for always laughing with us. Thank you to David, our Yearbook representative who answers calls at any point in the day. Thank you to everyone who contributed photos to this publication, including Nathan Leary, Katie Bittner, Nathan LaRicca, and of course, our own talented Argo Photo Staff. Thank you to our Copy Staff for filling this book with words we'll look back on years from today. A huge thank you goes out to my Editorial Staff: Chris, Kelsey, Jess, and Savanna. Every one of you gave your all to this book and you should be proud. We all coordinated and collaborated this year, which is all I could have asked for.

Even though I've been involved in the production of five books, this year I learned the most about the yearbook process. What I learned this year is that a yearbook isn't really about perfectly sound design or delicate prose; a yearbook is about preserving a year at Westminster in a way nothing else can. In short, I feel extremely privileged to have had the opportunity to preserve a slice of Westminster's history for you, because Westminster isn't just a location: it's home.

I'll see you in the fall for one more round, Westminster.
